Leroy:

See attached 1900-55 with some mark ups. Should be easily corrected.

The big issue that I have is "Why are we only now getting changes to labor that was not charged at the time it occurred or shortly thereafter if you guys were reconciling RCMS with your Vision Accounting system throughout the project?" It is hard for me to say we should pay for any additional charges since they should have been identified in a reasonable time. I can see making changes to reduce costs because of errors made since failure to do so could result in an IG evaluation. Some of these go all the way back to 2014. We have had 12 1900-55 documents developed since demobing from the project on 6/10/15.

I have some issues with the 1900-55. I am still reviewing it but one of my biggest issues are the additional charges that were not previously captured in RCMS. I realize that you guys do a reconciliation but I was told that Steve was doing these reconciliations during the course of the project and am surprised that they were not captured during the previous reconciliations. Some of these new charges are 1 or more years ago.

That seems to be an unreasonable amount of time to expect to get approval for additional labor charges. I will keep reviewing but it is making me angry since I paid 9 hours plus/day for a field cost accountant to make sure that things were appropriately captured so we could approve or resolve at the time it was charged.

We are reconciling the CB&I Vision Accounting System with RCMS. I hope you are doing well.

This may take me a little while to review because I have to figure out how to verify the increase in hours that you guys are posting to already approved hours prior to 10/31/15. I am not sure how Steve could have missed these labor charges with him charging 9+ hours per day. I am baffled. He even missed his own hours which makes me very skeptical.

We are working through the reconciliation process. This 1900-55 removes hours after the POP. I have reviewed and approved. Please review, comment and let us know if we can go final.
